BIKE SHOPEditors' Choice*ELEVATION CYCLES

You pick your go-to bike shop for one of two reasons: They sell the brand you like, or they have awesome customer service. At Elevation Cycles, you'll likely find both. The knowledgeable crew eschews the snob factor in favor of genuine interest in helping customers get exactly what they need—whether it's a tune-up (starting at $75), gear (they sell POC helmets and Shimano components and can order just about anything else), or even a brand-new road or mountain bike. Take note: Elevation's downtown location is just a block off the Cherry Creek Trail, so there will be a friendly face waiting if you're on a ride and find yourself with a flat tire. 1500 Wynkoop St., Suite 102, 303-835-3438; 2030 E. HAIR SALONEditors' Choice*LET EM HAVE IT SALON

When it comes to being eco-friendly, beauty businesses often land on the wrong end of the spectrum. Fallene Wells, a 14-year veteran of the hair and fashion industry, knew she could do better. In November 2013, she and her husband, Kyle, opened the environmentally focused—and socially conscious—Let Em Have It Salon in Uptown. In addition to using only sustainable products, Wells' parlor was one of the first two in Colorado to partner with Green Circle Salons, a Canadian company that helps salons recycle all of their noxious waste, such as discarded color. Let Em Have It also runs a gratitude program that gives clients in occupations that are "making the world a better place" (teaching, nursing, and firefighting among them) a 10 percent discount on all services, all the time. 490 E. 20th Ave., 720-638-4619, letemhaveitsalon.com

INTERIOR DESIGNEREditors' Choice*ERIN IBA, IBA DESIGN ASSOCIATES

If your Houzz searches keep turning up predictable decor, get some fresh ideas by taking a spin through interior designer Erin Iba's portfolio. In 2012, the New York City transplant brought her wicked sense of style and just the right amount of risk-taking to Denver. While her own taste is subdued and classic, Iba's work showcases a broad range of styles and a killer ability to combine big-ticket items like silk moiré wallpaper with wallet-saving pieces to make sure your home looks less like a stuffy showroom and more like, you know, a place you want to live. 1421 Oneida St., Suite 11, 212-729-1043, ibadesignassociates.com

FLORIST← Editors' Choice*BELLA CALLA

Nothing epitomizes the spirit of the West quite like succulents—and this tiny Five Points shop will send imaginative arrangements of the resilient plants to your special someone. We're partial to the versions that feature tiny air plants inside hanging globes or even light bulbs. MASSAGEEditors' Choice*THE RITZ-CARLTON
SPA, DENVER

We're happy to report that the Ritz-Carlton Spa, Denver's $1.1 million upgrade (a new fitness center, a spacious salon, and a reimagined spa reception area), completed in early 2016, didn't alter what was already great about this eight-year-old mecca of relaxation. That is, locker rooms decked out with a hot tub and steam room; cozy robes and quiet rooms; and more than 20 deftly executed treatments, like the deep-tissue
